

Vadim Dumov

Founder and CTO of the DataProZilla

PhD: Novosibirsk State University,

MBA: Cornell University

Certificates: ACCA

About

Hey all,

My name is Vadim and I am starving for new insights from data analysis. Before starting the project, I was involved in myriad crazy projects starting from building Nuclear Power Plants to being part of Student Venture Capital Fund screening over 100 new venture projects annually.

I hope the project would provide opportunity in sharing your data products with everybody. Do not hesitate to contact me vadim.dumov@dataprozilla.io

Projects

The list reflects the most interesting projects that I was involved in:

- Citigroup: Treasury and Trade Solutions in Connected Mobility era
- HP Inc.: researched the US PC market for trends in a product category and developed a recommendation and implementation strategy for the category
- BlackEarthFarming: Risk management system for Agribusiness
- Rosatom Alstom: JV Alstom Atomenergomash business planning
- Rosatom: Investments management system for Heavy machinery division
- PhD Thesis: Implementation of complex data management systems in the construction business

Hobbies

- Competitive chess player
- Sports enthusiast – soccer and judo
- Avid traveler – driven over 30k miles across Russia, France, Germany, Poland, and the US